Welcome...

Dr. Phil Supthin

East Central Community College is proud of its long tradition of producing spring musicals. Over the years, countless students have had the opportunity to learn and to express themselves through participation in the dramatic and musical arts. This year's production of "All Shook Up" is a continuation of the fine productions that grace the stage annually.

We owe a special note of thanks to those who make our productions possible. You will find a list of those individuals elsewhere in this program. Each one deserves a commendation for his or her efforts. Our student actors and musicians deserve recognition for the time and effort that is required to make the production flow. Regular attendees of East Central activities will recognize several of the students performing because these students are in many activities on campus.

Of course, the success of our drama department is found in you, the patrons. Whether you come because you have a relative performing or because you enjoy the musicals presented by the College, you are a significant component of our success. Thank you for your continuing support of the arts at East Central.

Enjoy the show!

MERMAID

Welcome!

"I don't know when, I don't know how. But I know something is starting right now. Watch and you'll see, someday I'll be, part of your world." – Ariel

East Central Community College (ECCC) is pleased to welcome you to the Spring 2018 production of The Little Mermaid. Performed by the cast and crew of ECCC Encore, this musical is based on the animated 1989 Disney film and classic Danish fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen about a mermaid who dreams of becoming a human and joining the world above the sea. The music for this production was written by Alan Menken and lyrics by Howard Ashman and Glenn Slater, while the book was written by Doug Wright.

East Central enjoys a rich tradition of quality musical productions. These productions have provided countless numbers of talented students with opportunities to express themselves through the dramatic arts. They have also provided enjoyable entertainment and cultural experiences for those who attend. Numerous patrons have commented on the high caliber of our productions and how impressed they are with our students' work. I know that you will find this musical to be a continuation of our college's excellent productions.

I want to thank all of those who have worked tirelessly to make this production possible. A list of these individuals can be found in this playbill. Each one of our students, whether they are members of the cast or crew, and our faculty and staff are to be commended for his or her efforts in preparing for and delivering this entertaining event for our patrons. I encourage you to take a moment this evening to thank each of them for their hard work.

You, our patrons, are an important part of the success of this and other student productions at East Central. We are blessed with dynamic music and drama productions led by accomplished faculty and talented students. However, the show would not go on without you. On behalf of our faculty and students, thank you for being a part of our college's success. Your continued patronage of the arts at East Central makes all of our work possible.

Thank you to the cast for putting your all into your characters and being willing to swim the extra mile.
